When in Louisville, stop at 415, the Spencer Hat Co., and see the prettiest and most up-to date hat store in the South. An old Lancaster boy, Mr Burt A. Spencer, is one of the firm, and is always glad to see his friends.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Grove church will give an ice cream supper at the double-toll-gate house, Camp Dick Robinson, Wednesday evening, April 12th, beginning at five o'clock. Admission 25cts, children 15cts. A delightful supper and a most pleasant evening is assured.

Buys Store Room. 'Squire Sam Johnson bought the Yeager store rooms for $3,600. Mr Geiger at once rented his old stand and has one of the prettiest groceries in central Kentucky. The other room fronting on Danville street, is not yet occupied. The second story over both rooms is occupied by Mr W O Rigney's undertaking establishment.

An Honest Confession.

Senator George Farris was seen carrying home a hoe Saturday afternoon. A friend, wishing to have a little fun, asked him what he was going to do with it. Being as honest as the days are long, the big hearted solon replied: "I'm taking it home for Mrs. Farris to work the garden." There are many men in Lancaster who, in all truthfulness could have made this statement and we have a notion that the senator was throwing a bit of sarcasm at the fellows who took a fire at him.

Meeting With Success.

Mr Jno M Logan is here for several days looking after some business and tells The Record he is meeting with great success in his new field of labor. Arterial and Cavity Embalming He is a member of the firm of Booth Logan Co , 51 Leonard st , New York, direct mill agents for hosiery and underwear, and is on the road most of time be located permanently in New York, and his family will reside there. It was a sad blow to Lancaster's busi ness interests when Mr Logan engaged elsewhere, as he was always in the lead in every move for improvements.

A Week of Sadness

The last week has been a sad one, one who belongs to the families who grew up with Lancaster, was reported. The Maccabee lodge has paid to Mrs and, as will be seen by the list given John F Lear the full amount of the below, grief and sorrow entered not two thousand dollar policy he held in only the homes of many but have cast promptly, and is the safest frateral During our ten years' work on this paper, we have neven been called upon to chronicle as many as two deaths of local people in any one issue, and to day we tell our readers of the passing away of three It certainly is sad to contemplate, and should serve as a terrible warning to the people to be ever mindful of and ready for the final sum nons we all must answer.

Many Visitors. There is a continual swarm of visitors around the hemp-breaking ma chine every day. People come, not many have been here from a distance to see the wonderful work. As stated in a previous issue, the inventors and ompany are not here soliciting orders to break hemp, but to put the machine in perfect adjustment for work in the field. They will be here some ime, as all the finishing touches can be put on, now that, the most impor tant part of the invention has been completed. Another very severe and highly satisfactory test was given the machine Monday. All familiar with hemp known that it has been impos sible to break it while the wind is blow ing This made no difference with the a perfect gale blowing. This point has been watched with interest, and the overcoming of the trouble is hail eling men tell us that hemp is now proven a success. As stated in our previous issues, it means much to Ken

Another Milestone.

Fifteen years ago, Saturday, The entral Record was launched on tempestuous journalistic sea, the late Jas R. Marrs as editor. The hard work and worry soon caused that time. The people of Garrard, his time. He will however, in a short lishments of Lancaster have patroniz ed and encouraged the paper, for which we are deeply grateful. We are painfully aware of our inability to bring the paper up to a higher standard, but if our readers knew the many obstacles we have to overcome, the worry in securing and keeping good help, and the amount of outside work we have had to do, we know they will overlook our shortcomings. It may be true that the road to perdition is paved with good intentions, but we are going up against that proposition again, and promise to send our patrons all the news in Garrard county, printed in the best manner possible, fifty-two times a year. We cannot do this without your co-operation. Will you help us in the undertaking?

A Fine Judge. The editor was summoned as a witness in the circuit court last week and compelled to lounge around the room for quite a while. It was our first time to take a prolonged look at the way in which His Honor, Judge Bell, Unless copy for advertisements and kept the wheels moving, and we want ocals are sent to this office before to say to the people who elected him press day, you cannot expect as good that they have every reason to feel work from us as if you preformed your proud of their work. to her bed for several weeks. The couple. death of her husband, Dr H C Herring was a great shock to her, and, in her already weak condition had much to do against regaining her strength. She was born in Louisana, but resided in Lancaster the greater part of her Susan Fisher. She leaves four children, Mrs Jerry Respess, Mrs C W An derson, Mr Fisher Herring and Mrs only from neighboring counties, but Jesse Walden. Mrs Herring was member of the Lancaster Baptist church, and that congregation never had a more faithful, sincere worker. She was a constant attendant at o'clock a. m., on the services, and lived that pure life so certain to end with rich reward in the Great Beyond. The grief stricken children and sister have sympathy beyond measure in their great be reavement. Funeral services were conducted at the residence, on Richmond street, Rev C S Ellis and Eld F M Tinder officiating, and the remains so certain to end with rich reward in interred at the Lancaster Cemetery. This family is one of the oldest and best-known in Lancaster, Dr Herring machine, and it did perfect work with having practiced medicine very successfully here for many years, and his name was familiar in every Garrard county household. The children were ed with delight by hemp-raisers. Tray given that careful, Christian training which fitted them for the battles of the principal topic of conversation life, they were given every advantage over the state since the machine has and luxury money could buy, and this care and thoughtfulness alone, aside from the pure, Christian lives is per fect assurance that they are now in a better world where there is no sorrow.

MRS. MOLLIE WHITE YOUNG.

A telegram was received late Sunda afternoon stating that Mrs Mollie Young had died very suddenly in Dalhis death, and the present editor that the remains would be interred in mounted the tripod, our nose having Dallas. Mrs Young had made her home with her parents, Capt and Mrs Franklin J White, in Lancaster until a few years, ago when she went to reside with her children, Mrs Claire Witwer and Mr C W Young. Mr Witwer and Mr Young both have lucrative positions in Dallas. Mrs Young had enjoyed splendid health until very recently, and so slight was her recent ailment that the death was a very severe shock and surprise. She was a great favorite in her old home, Lancaster, and her visits here were greatly enjoyed by the wide circle of friends who loved her for the sweet disposi tion and lovely characteristics with which she was blessed. She was a member of the Presbyteriaa church. and, when residing in Lancaster was a worker in the Sunday School and church. The devotion for her two children, Mrs Witwer and C. W., was beautiful, and no mother ever exercised more care in training than did she. The last time she was in Lancaster she told the writer that she knew her aged parents needed her care, but her son was just at the age where he needed a mother's care more than at any other time and she would go to his Western home and put forth every effort to start him in the right paths. Her death is, indeed, a severe shock, and to the bereaved children and aged parents, the deepest sympa-
